Devon County Council (DCC) is delighted to be able to support Exeter Respect 2024 and we are looking forward, once again, to being part of the largest celebration of diversity in the South West.

2023 saw DCC's biggest ever turnout at the festival with more than twenty-five members of staff from different departments helping to look after our stall, sharing information about our work, taking the opportunity to meet and talk to people and - most of all - just enjoying the atmosphere and the huge variety of performances and stalls. As one member of our DCC team commented afterwards,

"It was a truly joyous occasion; my cheeks are still hurting from smiling so much!"

The theme for Exeter Respect 2024, Friendship through Diversity, is a timely reminder, at a time of increasing polarisation of views across the world, that diversity is something that we should all be celebrating: diversity enriches our cultural life, strengthens our economy, helps to make Devon a great place to live.

We look forward to being at the festival with you. Last year, with the help of two local artists, numerous families and individuals who stopped to decorate a panel, and an Afghan refugee with brilliant sewing skills, we made the tapestry - a visual representation of the rich diversity of Devon. This year we are planning to do something artistic and interactive again, so please come and join in.

WELCOME TO EXETER RESPECT FESTIVAL 2024

Exeter Respect Festival 2024 marks the 27th anniversary of the first Respect Festival in Exeter, aimed at bringing communities together to celebrate their differences and commonalities. This year's theme is to celebrate 'Friendship Through Diversity'.

It is so important to express our commitment to diversity and bring all communities together to celebrate friendship and harmony. This year's festival is in memory of Chris Newman who was a precious member of Exeter Respect Festival's organising committee.

The three outdoor stages provide a kaleidoscope of performances that are accompanied by stalls, food and activities for all of the family to enjoy in beautiful Belmont Park. On the Mandela Stage, The South African Cultural Gospel Choir UK are Saturday's headliners with Shumba Tribe headlining on Sunday.

The Community Stage will be full of exciting performances from talent hidden in our community giving an opportunity for people to showcase their cultural diversity. The festival is delighted that once again Exeter College will host the Diversity Stage for young people and community artists. If you wish to show your own talent join in Waz Open Mic.

There will be lots of outdoor processions and activities, with opportunities to sample the wealth of stalls providing everything from global food to fine clothing, handmade crafts to information about local communities and organisations – all delivered with a very genuine smile. Tents will be hosted by DAISI and Young Devon for young people and everyone to enjoy music and art workshops.

In the Windrush Zone – for children and their parents – you can enjoy a variety of activities including workshops and stalls including RAMM, whose members will go around the festival site in bird costumes. The ever popular Scrapstore has activities for the whole family and will have their blue organic slide on top of the hill for children to enjoy. In the Diversity community area many organisations and groups will display their cultural heritage giving special insights into their unique culture.

Women's activities are becoming increasingly popular at the festival and this year more environmental campaigners will be sharing ways you can help to save our planet.

Throughout the site there are wide ranges of activities over the weekend for all to come together to stand hand in hand, shoulder to shoulder for our commonalities that bring us to celebrate our friendship through diversity.
